

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an apparatus and method for controlling the debris generated by shaped charges during perforating. The controlled debris perforating system comprises a pre-fragmented shaped charge having a charge case and an explosive material.